

What is a Consultant

Objectives

- Describe the role of a consultant
- Describe the job skills needed to be a consultant
- Research job descriptions for consultants
- Describe the role of the consultant and the skills necessary for the job
- Compose a job description of a consultant based on specific project requirements

Try It / Solve It

1. Three job roles are listed below. Choose the best description for the role of a consultant.

Data Entry
Database Design
Computer Sales

2. From the job description chosen in question 1, identify the job skills required for the position.

3. Locate a job description for a consultant using the Internet. Provide the description and the link to the site listing the description.

4. For the job description provided in question 3, identify the possible role for the position and the skills necessary for the job.

5. Write a job description for a consulting position with your firm. The position will complete all of the data modeling aspects of a potential future business.